Brigham Young Universe

TV Tussle Looms As Decisive Fight

by Ken Clayton

Universe Sports Editor

ALL EYES WILL be focused upon the Einar Nielsen Fieldhouse in Salt Lake City Saturday night when Coach Stan Watts' cagers square off against a powerful University of Utah five at 8 p.m.

The game will be telecast by KSL-TV and broadcast by KSL radio for those who do not hold tickets for this key contest.

BOTH Brigham Young University and Utah are in the running for the Skyline Conference crown, and this game should go a long way in determining the NCAA bid.

The Cougars, who were ranked 17th by the United Press survey this week, also hold the league lead for the first time in two years. Utah, on the other hand, was ranked 19th by the same poll, and sports a 3-2 league record. A win by either team will place the victor in the driver's seat as far as the league race is concerned.

THE UTES are paced by Art Buntz, who has averaged around 20 points a game. Gary Bergen, 6-8 rebound artist; defensive ace Curtis Jensen; and Morris Buckwalter, an excellent all-around performer.

Other Redskins have also had their moment of glory, including such players as Jerry McCleary, Gary Hale, and Darrell Pastell. Coach Gardner's club, which dropped two games last weekend, will probably be on the rebound and will be hard to take on their home floor.

ON THE OTHER hand, the Cougars have proved to be somewhat of an enigma to Utah over the years, and should press the

Blind Composer To Present Organ Recital

Jean Langlais, blind composer and organist, will appear at Brigham Young University Monday (Feb. 13) p.m. in the Smith Auditorium. Students will be admitted on their activity cards.

Langlais is presently the organist at the Ste. Clotilde Church in Paris. This church has been made famous by such organist predecessors as Cesar Franck, Alvirre Pienre, and Charles Bourmire.

Among his other activities, Langlais directs a mixed choir of blind young people. He has directed this group for the past 15 years.

Langlais was born in Brittany, France. He attended the National Institute for the Young Blind in Paris, and later the Paris Conservatory of Music.

Langlais' playing has been praised for its "assurance, warmth, and inspiration." This is his fourth tour in the United States.

Graduate Student Wins Scholarship to Illinois School

Brigham Young University graduate student, Glen C. Davis, is receiving a research assistantship valued at $650 at the University of Illinois.

Davis, Provo, who graduated on BYU last year with a degree in Journalism, will use the grant to complete his work for a master's degree in journalism at Illinois.

After his graduation last August, Davis worked for KIXX radio station in Provo. He spent August at the Air Force summer school at Hamilton Air Force Base in California. He was editor of the summer yearbook there. He became a Second Lieutenant and will report next June to an active officer in the U. S. Air Force.

Davis started school at Illinois last fall and received the grant at the beginning of the winter term.

His mother, Mrs. Elva Davis, is secretary in the student coordinator's office.

Red Flag Edition Planned for Coach

In order to be the first with important campus news, plans for a "Red Flag Edition" of the Brigham Young Daily Universe are being made for the first time. The new foot-candle day that news of the football coach is released. Negotiations have been underway for several weeks, and officials feel an early decision is imminent.

Red flags will be placed on the Universe distribution boxes all over the campus to signal the release of the news. Within minutes after the announcement the Universe will be distributed, containing details and biographical material on the new coach.

Watch for the Red Flag.

REPENT YE SINNERS!—Knight-Templar Mark Jarvis exhorts all sinners to "repent and be saved, by buying the 'book of life' the campus yearbook. ## SPB Minstrel Show Visits Utah Cities

Six Utah cities were visited Monday and Tuesday when the Student Program Bureau's minstrel show presented its annual touring program.

According to production staff members, the show "was enthusiastic and comic songs were went."

Comic acts, precision tap routines, vocal solos, Al Jensen imitations and comic songs were among the varied numbers on the show. Negro spirituals, Charleston routines and chorus pieces were also on the agenda.

The production was presented in stake houses and high schools in the cities of Kayville, Brigham City, Tremonton, Bountiful, Morgan, and Ogden. Weber College in Ogden also received the show.

The minstrel, organized in 1953, is a tour show presented every year by the Student Program Bureau.

IOC Session Canceled

Monday's Inter-Organization Council meeting has been postponed for one week, according to Karl Snow, president.

Y's Men Contribute Dance Melodies For Yearbook Ball

The Y's Men Band will play without charge for the Banyan Ball, director Gus Shields has announced. Shields said the band decided to provide free music to show their appreciation to the University and studentbody for hiring them at various functions.

The music will be played for by a trust fund of the recording industry administered through the American Federation of Musicians.

The trust fund is allotted to musical local branches of the union. All bands are able to apply for use of the fund which enables them to play for a dance without charge to the organization. The Y's Men were granted use of the fund through Local 272 of the AFM.

The Banyan Ball, first semi-formal dance of winter quarter, is scheduled for Friday evening at 8:30. The dance will be held in the Smith Fieldhouse and the social hall. Admission is free.

Highlight of the evening will be presentation of Banyan Queen by Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson.

FREE MUSIC—Gus Shields' Y's Men Band is donating its time and talents for the admission-free Banyan Ball, "Shangi-La," Friday night in the Fieldhouse.

First Investigations...

Senate Committees to Study Traffic, Insurance Questions

WEDNESDAY'S Senate meeting was devoted to a report on sportsmanship from the pep subcommittee, a suggestion for investigation of the traffic department, proposal of a student burial benefit fund, and organization of a "Ring Week" committee.

Senator Lamont Ririe of the junior class, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on pep, gave the report on sportsmanship. From a statement prepared by the Athletic Council, Ririe read to the Senate comments regarding the officiating in the Skyline Conference.

THE REPORT praised the qualifications and reputation of Dick Romney, commission of athletics for the Mountain States (Skyline) Conference, and the method of choice and appointment of officials.

Coaches nominate the officials and rate them, the Council pointed out. Just before the beginning of the season all prospective officials attend a clinic to discuss rules, interpretations, and mechanics of officiating, and an examination is given. Shortly thereafter the Commissioner assigns officials for the entire season.

DURING THE season coaches send in a rating for each official after each game. At the end of the season the officials are rated and coaches have an opportunity to nominate new officials.

Universe editor, Ralph Barney, presented the suggestion that the Senate investigate the traffic department's alleged inefficiencies. Many reports of student bitterness have reached the Universe, therefore, Barney considered investigation important. The student-faculty subcommittee was assigned to investigate and to make its report next week.

LEO WEIDNER, freshman senator, reported his findings on the "BYU Benefit Fund," which is designed to provide $500 to defray burial expenses. The plan, which Weidner said has been the dream of Francis Kirkham, brother of Oscar Kirkham, since 1923, would cost approximately $1 per year per student. Kirkham has volunteered $2000 to help get this fund established.

The floating subcommittee is to investigate the burial fund further and report next Wednesday.

"RING WEEK," a week when the sale of the official Brigham Young University ring is promoted, was discussed by Walt Winkelman, Senator from the freshman class. A motion was made to organize a committee for this year's sale with Brooks Temple, El Monte, Calif., as chairman.

BYU English Professor Wins Scholarship to School Choice

A DANFORTH Foundation scholarship has been awarded to Robert K. Thomas, Brigham Young University English professor.

The 12-month scholarship amounts to $5,000 and will pay for tuition, fees, and living expenses at any university in the country.

Prof. Thomas will use the scholarship to complete his doctorate thesis at Columbia University. Subject of his thesis is "Emerson and Christianity."

THE ENGLISH professor came to BYU in 1952. He graduated from Reed College in Portland, Ore., in 1947 and received his M.A. degree from the University of Oregon in 1949. He taught at the University of Oregon before going to Columbia University to work on his Ph.D. degree but he came to BYU before he could finish his thesis.

The Danforth Foundation was established by a late president of the Ralston and Purina Co.

KBYU Schedules New Sports Show

A new sports commentary will be aired over radio station KBYU starting Friday night.

The show, which will be called "All Star Sports," will be aired every Friday night from 7:15 to 7:30. Howard Hill, San Mateo, Calif., will comment on the Brigham Young University sport scene as well as the national sport scene. On each show he plans to have a special guest. This week's guest will be BYU basketball coach, Stan Watts.

Rantings...

Dear Editor:

Must we again be forced to listen to the childish rantings of the IOC court? I thought that the last episode of said court involving the above-the-law Brickers might have pretty well shown that there is nothing to these court proceedings save much talk, a lot of bellying, and too much publicity.

Every time one of the social units is brought before the higher authority it is either chastised as being "naughty, naughty boys," or, in the very severest measures the social unit gets its wrists slapped and is told not to do those nasty little things again. With this kind of action the keeping of IOC rules and regulations by the units is just a great big fat joke.

How about it, let's either get those teeth into our regulative measures, adopt such workable controls, and stick to them—or let's stop wasting everybody's time by these trials that are fetes of non-very which, in the end, accomplish nothing. If we don't do something now while we have a case against the units and an opportunity to create an example, we might as well tell the units to do as they please and ignore the rules—that's what they'll do anyway.

An Interested Observer
(Ed. Note—Most units recognize their moral obligations to the University. But there are apparently small majorities who recognize only themselves. It is for these that a new court system is being set up which, it is hoped, will be able to act effectively with the situation.)

University Wards Schedule Change

Four wards in the Brigham Young University Stake have announced changes in meeting schedules and office hours.

Fourth Ward will hold Sunday school services at 10:30 a.m. Wymount chapel is the new location of the office.

Sixth Ward's Sacrament meeting will begin at 7 p.m. The office is now found at 280 Eyring Science Center.

Seventh Ward's office is in the Fieldhouse. Weekday hours are 1-5 p.m.

Eleventh Ward's office hours are from 3:30-5 p.m. on Tuesdays, 7-8 p.m. on Wednesdays and 3:30-4:20 p.m. on Thursdays.

Designer to Speak At Fireside Chat

ROSE MARIE Reid, designer of women's bathing suits, will be the guest speaker of Brigadier social unit's fireside chat to be given Sunday in room 167 McKay building at 8:30 p.m.

In 1955, Mrs. Reid was voted Woman of the Year by a United Press poll. She was born in Alberta, Canada, is the mother of three children and now resides in Los Angeles, Calif. She began making bathing suits in her home at Vancouver, British Columbia, and in 19 years her business has grown to become one of the largest swim suit manufacturing companies in the United States.

THE DESIGNER spoke to the studentbody in 1954. The Brigadier social units have invited all the women social units, and all others interested, to hear Mrs. Reid.

Fresh Need Coordinators For BY Stake Fireside

There are still openings Freshman Class fireside coordinators in the first, third, fourth, and twelfth wards, according to Leo Weldner, freshman president.

The duty of the coordinators will be to help the freshmen officers sponsor a program at firesides. Any interested student should sign a list in the student coordinators office, basement of the Student Service Center, call Sid Mitchell, freshman unit member.

Cats Bury Aggies

Horrid Cougars
ement Lead
With 92-62 Win

by Ken Clayton
Universe Sports Editor
Lightning struck hard and Thursday night as Brigham
Young snapped the Utah State 92-62, before a record ed of 11,614 at the Smith
Edhouse.

By winning, the Cats cemented their hold on first place in Skyline Conference as BYU
ris a 6-1 league record in front to Utah's 5-2 mark.
Terry Tebbis led the Cougar ault with 24 big points in dition to playing the floor me of his life. The Cowley, yo, senior continually harassed the Utags, stealing the ll from Pat Dunn and Co.
ore than once.

John Benson established a record for personal re-unds, grabbing 25 off the Board. Benson also scored 14
ints, but was aided by Ed
mear (15); Tom Steinko
(5); and Blaine Anderson
(5).

Red Smith sparked the Farm-attack with 21 points and as followed by Dunn with 20.
Bright Young vaulted off to early 9-2 lead and were ever headed from that point, as five BYU starters broke into scoring column.

Tebbis and Steinko flipped 12 and 11 points, respectively to lead the hot-shooting Brigham attack in the first lf, as BYU shot a torrid 46
er cent from the field.

"After the Cats had established a 22-35 halftime lead in ite of the rough play of the sitors, the Watsons scored ght straight points early in e second half to assume a
-41 margin.

Five minutes later, the Cats aged to another eight straight ints to seal the Farmers' win, grabbing an insurmountable
e 76-54 margin. After Pinenson, and Tebbis connected for eight more, Coach Watts erred his second-stringers o played out the rough-andndible tussle with the "Fight-

On the Sideline

by Jack Nelson

Groundhog Day has come and gone and still there is no news of a football coach. Spring practice is sneaking up on us and it won't be too long until it's time to pass out shoulder-pads, but the question still is, who is going to pass them out?

It's evident that the administration is aware of the importance of a good choice and that it is being careful in selection.
But time is also a factor—several of the coaches being considered have already signed other contracts. For instance Paul Amen, former Army assistant coach who was considered a top prospect by many, recently signed a contract with Wake Forest.

But new names keep cropping up in the potential coaches' line. Ray Nagle, former UCLA great and now backfield coach at that university, visited here last week to talk things over. However there is still no hint of a choice. Some announcement will probably be made soon though.

One disadvantage of not having a coach around is that visiting athletes don't know what to expect. Last week, Bob Goodeth, star end of the Little Rose Bowl for Compton J.C. this year, was here checking on the BYU situation. He said four other Compton football players are planning on enrolling in the spring. That will be a big help to any new coach.

Compton's coach, Tay Brown, is one of the best coaches in the nation, who consistently turns out top teams, was interviewed by Pres. Wilkinson in Los Angeles recently.

Brown thinks that BYU has one of the greatest potentials in the nation and can really be worked into something. He reportedly wanted the job badly, but said he just had too many bad habits.
Rumor has it that he smoked more than half a pack of cigarettes during his interview.

But there are many other good football coaches in this country and one of them should be able to build BYU into a football power. We congratulate those in charge for being careful in their choice.

Redskins to the limit.

The Cats snapped out of their mid-season slump last week and scored convincing wins over
New Mexico and Denver. Terry Tebbis also found himself as the tiny ace tossed in a total of 42 points in both games in addition to playing a fine floor game.

Key figures in the BYU attack have been elongated Her-ing Ed Pinegar; Harry and Blaine Anderson; Lynn Rowe;

and Dave Lewis. All of these players are capable of erupting

All record books go out the

Students Mix Gas, Water; Achieve Increased Mileage

by Norman Akita
Universe Staff Writer

TRYING TO increase gas mileage by adding water to their car's fuel are two Brigham Young University students, supervised and assisted by Dr. Billings Brown, chemical engineering professor. The two students are Louis Odernott, sophomore from Meridian, Ida., and Karl S. Snow, graduate student from St. George.

Odernott has already attained interesting results. He successfully added proportional amounts of water to his car's fuel and obtained 32 miles per gallon of gas instead of the usual 18 miles, according to Dr. Brown.

THE SAME principle of gas plus water, Dr. Brown said, is used in jets and military airplanes to increase flight power. However, he added, aircraft manufacturers are presently confronted with several problems involving the right amount of water in constant flow into the fuel, mechanical corrosion, and the changing weather.

Diesel engines have succeeded in decreasing fuel consumption with water, but attempts with gasoline engines have not been consistent, he said. The chemical engineer said that automobile engines are not hampered by water if it is inserted properly, according to the findings of the BYU study.

After this year of experimentation, the two students plan to attempt other types of solution by several mechanical and chemical methods.
